

United States Ambassador to Australia

Handling Note: FAS AMD to lead.

Q: Why hasn't the United States appointed an Ambassador to Australia?

- . It is normal for there to be a period between US Ambassadors, in particular around a change in Administration in Washington
  - for example, President Obama's first Ambassador to Australia, Jeffrey Bleich, was confirmed by the US Senate in late 2009, 10 months after the departure of his predecessor Robert McCallum.
- . There was also an 18-month gap between Ambassador McCallum and his predecessor Tom Schieffer in 2005-06, at the time of the George W Bush Administration.
