Australia is supporting Bangladesh to invest in human development, skills and productivity.

Strategic direction

As Bangladesh continues its trajectory towards upper middle income status, Australia's aid investments will focus on improving the effectiveness of the Government's expenditure as well as ensuring, through a focus on education and building resilience, that the country's poor do not miss out on the benefits of growth.

In alignment with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), Australian bilateral aid program to Bangladesh has two objectives:

- improving education access, equity, efficiency and learning outcomes
- building resilience by reducing vulnerability and improving inclusion in the growing economy.

Both objectives prioritise gender equality by focusing on empowering women and girls.

In 2017-18, we will offer 65 new long-term and more than 83 new short-term Australia Awards for Bangladesh students.

Additionally, Australia has provided up to $31.5 million since 25 August 2017 to help address humanitarian needs of the people affected by the Rohingya crisis, including the over 688,000 Rohingya who fled to Bangladesh in response to the violence in Rakhine State, Myanmar. Australian assistance will contribute to the provision of food, shelter, clean water and essential health services through trusted partners, including World Food Programme, Australian NGOs, International Organisation for Migration and the UN Refugee Agency,
