Colombia

Expanding relations based on people, talent, business and shared international interests.

Key engagement

A large and growing source of international students in Australia, we share common interests in the rules and institutions that help promote growth and security.

Outlook

Export and investment opportunities exist for Australian business, particularly in mining, energy, infrastructure, education, health and agriculture.

Bilateral relations

Australia and Colombia established diplomatic relations in 1976. Australia opened its Embassy in Bogotá in June 2017.

Colombia has an embassy in Canberra, a Consulate General in Sydney, and Consulates in Melbourne and Perth.

Foreign relations

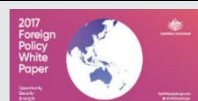

Australia and Colombia are members of IMF, World Bank, Cairns Group, OECD, World Trade Organisation (WTO), United Nations (UN), and UN organisations. In 2018 Colombia acceded to NATO alongside Australia.

Australia and Colombia work together in a range of international fora, including the UN, the WTO and the OECD, which Colombia joined in 2018. Both countries cooperate on a range of international issues, including trade and investment, agricultural development, anti-corruption and transnational crime.

Colombia is a founding member of the Pacific Alliance and the Forum for East-Asia Latin America Cooperation (FEALAC) and is seeking APEC membership.

Colombia is also a member of the Community of Latin American and Caribbean States (CELAC), Association of Caribbean States (ACS) and the Organisation of American States (OAS).

Colombia served as a non-permanent member of the United Nations Security Council in 2011-12.

Public diplomacy

Since 2017, the Australian Government has provided financial support through the Direct Aid Program to 14 projects, reaching almost 4,000 people throughout Colombia. Projects have focussed on rural and agricultural development, environmental protection, gender equality, community health, humanitarian aid and education.

Australian scientists and policy experts cooperate with Colombian authorities on topics of mutual interest, including biosecurity, marine sciences, climate science and asbestos safety.

In 2019, the Council on Australia-Latin America Relations \(COALAR\) provided numerous grants including to the Australian Academy of Sciences, the Australian Institute of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Studies, Somos21 Limited, the Australian Graduate School of Policing and Security at Charles Sturt University and the University of New South Wales to connect and collaborate with people and institutions in Colombia.

Economic diplomacy

Colombia is the fourth largest economy in Latin America, expanding at an average annual rate of 3.2 per cent over the past five years. From 2000, it enjoyed uninterrupted economic growth until the COVID-19 pandemic caused a contraction in 2020. Growth is expected to rebound. The country's middle class has been increasing consistently from about 30 per cent of the population in 2014 to an expected 37 per cent in 2020. Colombia is a member of the OECD and boasts strong macroeconomic fundamentals, an environment conducive to business and a proactive approach to economic liberalisation.

Improvements to Colombia's security environment are opening up new opportunities for economic development, particularly in the agriculture, health services, education, infrastructure and extractives sectors.

Agreements with Colombia
